Hi Liam,

How are you? Sorry for my long answer, I was busy a little. We've made the renovation of our house a little bit. So now I can describe it from the new side. Well, my house is not so big, but light and comfortable. There are five (rooms/bedrooms) rooms in my house. There are bedroom, living room, dining room, kitchen and bathroom. My parents' room and my room are rather small. But as for me I don't need the bigger one.

But our living room is great, light, cosy with new furniture, smart TV, modern lights and a lot of flowers. We often sit there in the evening with cups of tea and talk to each other. Our kitchen is also not big, but it has all conditions for making food and eating there. I think, we don't need so much for being happy together. I think, that's all. About your house? Write me back - point to

With best wishes, Kausar

Renoir.

Pierre Renoir was a famous French artist. His paintings are very popular today because they show colourful, happy scenes, often in bright sunlight. He liked to show the good things in life because he thought there were many bad things around.

He was born in central France in 1841. His father was a tailor and his mother was a dressmaker. The family was poor. They moved to Paris when Pierre was three. As he grew older he showed a talent for drawing. He started work at the age of thirteen, learning how to decorate plates, cups and dishes. Later he studied at the Paris art school and became an artist. Renoir liked to paint outdoor scenes of everyday life, for example, children on the beach or a woman at the seaside. A hundred years ago, French children did not swim in the sea. They did not have special clothes for the beach and they usually wore hats and gloves, even in the summer.

Renoir loved family life. He often painted pictures of families. Some of his paintings are of his own children. One of his sons, Jean, was also very artistic. He became a world-famous film director.

Pierre Renoir continued working to the end of his life, even when he became ill. He was seventy-eight when he died in 1919.

You can see his pictures in museums and art galleries all over the world. All collectors pay a lot of money for a painting by Renoir. In 2003 his picture of a woman sitting in her garden was sold for $23.5 million.
